[illegible]

Congress has just passed a law giving a Pension of $8 per month to all Soldiers of the War of 1812, who served 14 days or were in battle—and the same pension to the widows of all such soldiers.

This entitles all to a pension who have received Land Warrants.

All desiring the pension can obtain it, by applying to me in person at my office, or by letter.

I have all the old Rolls, on which are borne the names of all soldiers of the War of 1812, with the place and length of service and date of discharge, and all facts; and I can give full and exact information in every case.

Also a record of most of the Land Warrants granted to these soldiers.

No person, east of Portland has these rolls, except myself and A. J. Chapman, Esq., of Bangor,—he has equal facilities for obtaining these pensions. He was formerly a clerk in my office.

C. P. BROWN,
BANGOR.

N. B.—All who desire their pensions early must apply early.

WAR OF 1812.

Pensions! Pensions

A law has just passed giving a Pension of $96 per year to all Soldiers of the War of 1812, who served 14 days, or were in any engagement; and their widows, also, are entitled to the same pension, regardless of the date of their marriage. I am authorized to obtain these pensions for all who are entitled.

Application can be made to me in person at my office in Bangor, or by letter. The earlier the application the better for the applicant.

I have all the rolls and records of every soldier of the war, with their names in alphabetical order so that every soldier's service can be readily ascertained.

No other person in Maine has these records, except C. P. Brown, Esq.

ST. NICHOLAS.
SCRIBNER'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE
FOR GIRLS AND BOYS.
The LONDON ACADEMY, of December 22d, 1877, says: "In ST. NICHOLAS we welcome the best of any juvenile literature that we have yet seen. * * * We have no hesitation in saying that both in the letter press and in the pictures this American magazine has no rival."
In ST. NICHOLAS for December, the Grand Christmas Number, was begun a charming new Serial Story by Miss Alcott
"Under the Lilacs," illustrated by MARY HALLOCK FOOTE, to continue during the year. This same Christmas number, of which one hundred thousand copies were printed, contained the opening chapters of a "ROBINSON CRUSOE" STORY
for boys, "Tower-Mountain," by GUSTAVUS FRANKENSTEIN, also poems by LONGFELLOW and BRYANT, a portrait of Miss Alcott, half a dozen short stories, pictures, poems, etc., etc. It is the handsomest number of a child's magazine ever issued.
The NEW YORK TRIBUNE says:
"ST. NICHOLAS has a list of contributors such as no other child's magazine, or few publications of any sort, in the world can boast. It has caused the best writers in America to turn their attention to the task of giving delight and imparting culture to children. In the avalanche of immoral literature that threatens the children, some strong, vitally wholesome, and really attractive magazine is required for them, and ST. NICHOLAS has reached a higher platform, and commands for this service wider resources in art and letters, than any of its predecessors or contemporaries."
ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1878,
Besides the SERIAL STORIES above announced, will have a short serial story by the author of The Schonberg-Cotta Family; and THREE SPLENDID SERIALS FOR BOYS, one of which "DRIFTED INTO PORT," by EDWIN HODDER, an English writer, will begin in March. "Around the world in a Yacht, Boys!" has been promised by a brilliant writer, now on the actual tour of the world in his own yacht. There will be contributions by a daughter of the famous Peter Parley, and a Letter to Young Americans by GEORGE MACDONALD.
The "HOW" Series of instructive papers, by various authors, will tell HOW to bind your own books; HOW they mine coal; HOW to enjoy yourselves at home; HOW to be an agreeable guest; HOW to entertain company; HOW to be a carpenter; HOW to make an Ice-boat; HOW to build a house; How India rubber is gathered; HOW matches are made; HOW to be a Parlor Magician; HOW money is made; HOW mackerel are caught; HOW they laid the Atlantic cable; HOW they mine in California; HOW they work in the tea-country; etc. There will be also a series of stories and sketches of Foreign Life,
TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE,
such as "Old Nicola" (a Russian story), "A Day among the Welsh Castles," "Easter in Germany," "The Indians of the Amazon," "How Kitty was lost in a Turkish Bazar," "Master Montezuma" (a Mexican story), "Hans, the Lapp Maiden," and many others.
"Jack-in-the-Pulpit," "Young contributors' Department," "Letter-Box," "Riddle Box," and "For Very Little Folks," will be continued.

A RAMBLE AMONG THE PLANETS.

We ought to be acquainted with the members of our own family. Not long ago I asked you to accompany me on two short trips to the moon and the sun, which stand in the relation of child and father to our old earth, and now let us drop in for a while upon our brothers and sisters, the planets.

A hundred years ago it was supposed that there were only five members of the household besides ourselves,—known by the names of Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn; Georgium Sidus, or Uranus, as he is now called, having always kept himself at such a distance from his brethren that they had never before known of his existence. More than one hundred and fifty little child-planets, or asteriods, have also been discovered, all of which belong to our family; and among them there is one small group, the members of which have been honored with names. I propose that we should first stop there and see how it fares with our little brother Ceres. What a very small affair he is! It would take 125 000 such spheres to make one world like ours, and travelling thirty miles an hour, we could go clear round it in sixteen hours. Not much room for large farms or great real estate speculations. The strangest thing is, that, if you brought down the scale at 200 pounds here on the earth, you will weigh only four pounds in Ceres. It is somewhat difficult to keep one's feet on the surface of the planet as you walk along, and anybody could tell how high you might go if you should make a good smart jump into the air. It is equally strange to find that you can lift a weight of three or four tons without an effort. How is all this to be explained? By the simple fact that the attractive power of this little planet is fifty time less than that of the earth. It even looks small to the eye, for the curve is so sharp as to give a small horizon,—a cannon ball would travel much farther on Ceres than the sight could reach.

It does not take long to gather up all that is interesting in this region, and we will, therefore, at once begin our rambles among the larger-sized members of our solar family, beginning with "Mercury, the swift-footed," which lies three times nearer the sun than the earth. There is not much to induce us to linger here. Mercury has little to boast of in the way of size, and there is not a great deal known about him. He is very eccentric in his ways, and in some of his abberrations is likely, one day or another, to tumble bodily into the sun, which, of course, would be the end of him—while at the same time, he would furnish the ancient king of day with a fresh supply of fuel for a few years, of which it is probable he will soon begin to feel the need. With a climate three times hotter than that to which we are accustomed, and with such an awful blaze of light scorching our eyelids, it is impossible for us to stay here any longer, and so we will strike off at once for Venus, the next planet in order.

This has always been regarded as the most brilliant and beautiful member of the family. Through the telescope it exhibits all the varying phases of the silver moon, and for ages it has been known as "Lucifer, son of the morning, and as Hesperus, star of the eve," the ancients, however, supposing the morning and evening star to be two different bodies. We cannot help approaching this planet with high expectations; but alas! when we got there what do we find? Nothing but a cold, dreary, zone of ice, and another dreary and blasted zone of fire,—no region temperate enough for us to breath. At one period of the year it is perpetual night, and at another, perpetual day, with a vertical sun pouring down upon us like a furnace seven times heated. To live here, one must be endowed with a very peculiar constitution, and we must hurry away from Venus, as rapidly as we did from Mercury. There is not much to choose between them.

In Mars we feel somewhat more at home. We have already been made familiar with the map of this planet, the "Red, white, and blue," as it has been poetically called, and as we travel over its ruddy soil, and along the margin of its clear waters, and gaze upon the snowy mountains that line the horizon, we find that at last we have reached a world where, perhaps, one might live with a little comfort. The ruddy clouds, reflecting as they do the reddish tint of the earth, seem to form a sort of crimson canopy over our heads, very striking to behold, but after all not so pleasing as the fleecy tints of our own atmosphere.

And now we find ourselves in Jupiter, king of the planets, 1300 times larger than the earth, where the years are 10,000 days long, and the sun so far off that it looks no larger than a star. With such an enormous diameter, the motion of this planet on its axis is so rapid that we shall be flung off into space if we do not hold on tight, and every minute the heavenly bodies seem to be changing their places. But in its bulk it is not dense and compact, like our earth, as though it had not yet been compressed into its true condition. Parallel to the equator it is invested with a bright and a dark belt, supposed "to represent masses of clouds, reflecting the sun's rays more perfectly than the body of the planet," and the uniformity of their position is attributed to atmospheric currents, similar to our trade winds, only much more violent. Four bright satellites illuminate the atmosphere. These were discovered by Galileo, but he had hard work to convince his contemporaries of their existence, as they absolutely refused to look through "such an unnatural and diabolical engine as a telescope," which had already done mischief enough in upsetting the orthodox traditions of the universe. One of these skeptics died about this time, and Galileo, with a sort of grim humor, expressed the hope that on his way to heaven he might pass by the planet Jupiter, and so be convinced at last.

Of the original members of our family, Saturn is the only one that remains to be visited, and here the same wonderful Galileo, with his infernal telescope, detected the greatest marvel of all. The rings of Saturn, which spin around the planet like the periphery of a wheel about its axis, have ever since their discovery been a puzzle to astronomers. For a long time they were supposed to be a solid substance, until La Place suggested that if it were so, they would inevitably split up into fragments, whirling round as they do with such extraordinary rapidity. Various other theories have been broached, but the latest conclusion is that they are composed of separate fragments of meteoric stones, closely packed together. What a magnificent spectacle it must be to those who dwell under this brilliant arch, always to see a zone of living fires whirling over their heads. Some time or other, it may contract and draw so near as to give them not a little discomfort. Among the various explanations given of these rings I have now only to mention that of Maupertius, who believed that at some period, a comet had got his tail caught in the atmosphere of Saturn, and, once twisted round, he had never been able to uncoil it again. The "wise men of old" had a great many queer notions.

There is one more world to be noticed, and that is the new-comer who was admitted into our household in the year 1781, by Sir William Herschell. Before that time it had been regarded as an ordinary star. The name Uranus was given to it, on the ground that the most distant of the planets should be named after the most ancient of the gods. About thirty years ago Neptune was discovered, and here our knowledge of the solar system ends. It is not worth while to extend our rambles and visit these distant relatives of ours. We have hardly been introduced to them as yet, and would not feel much acquainted if we should call upon them. We can imagine, that, living as they do so far off from the sun, they must have rather a dismal time.

It is an appalling thought, that, in all these journeyings, we have touched only one little section of the universe—one small nook in the great temple of nature.—Bishop Clark in N. Y. Ledger.

A DOCTRINAL DIFFERENCE.

We publish by request the following editorial extract from the Eastport Sentinel:

The papers report that trouble exists in the Congregational church in Brimfield, Mass. owing to the liberal doctrines preached by the pastor, Rev. Webster K. Pierce, at one time pastor of the Congregational society here. It appears that a majority of the church, which numbers one hundred and twenty-six, sustain the minister, while a minority of the society numbering twenty-one, are opposed to him.

Mr. Pierce while here was esteemed by all our people, and highly so, we think, by all of his society. His ability as a sermonizer was of a high order. He was an original, vigorous thinker, and was classed among the progressive men of his denomination. He searched for the truth and when he found it he did not consider whether it was labeled orthodox or heterodox. If any religious society do not prefer such a man to a fossil, who is content to know what the fathers knew, and to believe what the fathers believed; who not only will not search for new truths but refuses them admission when they knock at his door, so much the worse for the society. The Thirty-nine Articles and the Westminster Confession represented the most advanced religious ideas of the time when they were promulgated, but now the ablest and best Christians the world over reject many of the doctrines they embrace.

The Portland Press says: Major Benson's valuable roan horse died on Monday night. He had refused upwards of $5000 for the animal.

The Argus says that Monday evening, Miss Belle Symonds, who with her sister presides over the private school for young ladies on Pine street, Portland, suddenly fell fainting on the floor. Medical aid was summoned and she was hastily restored to consciousness. Nervous prostration was considered the cause of this sudden illness.

The Press says that three men on Monday night drove a horse heavily laden with fish, so unmercifully that he dropped dead near the house of Mr. Russell Starbird, on the Saccarappa road. The marks on his body gave sufficient evidence of the brutality of his drivers. The horse belonged to Amasa Winslow, of Saccarappa. Mr. Sawyer, agent of the P. C. A. Society, attended to the case. So long as such unmerciful men can be found, so long is such a society a necessity.

The Portland Argus reports the collector of Raymond $425 short in his accounts.

A little son of C. Hackett of Portland, was so badly scalded Monday that he died Tuesday.

The Press says that the McLellan lot on Town House Hill, Gorham, has been selected as the site for the elegant building for the new normal school, which will be erected at once. The academy of the fathers will continue a landmark. The seminary will be utilized.

The Press says that Patrick Gilhouley, of Portland, aged 54 years, a stone mason by trade, was crushed to death at Cumberland Mills Tuesday, by the fall of a derrick.

The mixed train from the west, Tuesday forenoon, met with an accident when between Rich's ice houses and Hallowell. The crank axle of the engine broke, disabling the locomotive, which, however, was driven by its own power to the machine shops in Augusta, for repairs. The engine of the accommodation train was sent for, and the mixed train arrived at Augusta an hour late.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Augusta Savings Bank, it was voted that one hundred dollars be donated to the widow of the murdered treasurer of the Dexter Savings Bank, Mr. Barron.

Edward Leighton a well-to-do farmer, living on the Brook road, about a mile from Augusta, employed a young man to work for him. The young man hailed from Boston, or professed to. The young man occupied a room in which Mr. Leighton kept a small trunk containing seventy-five dollars. A day or two ago, the fellow and the money disappeared about the same time. Telegrams have been sent to Boston and elsewhere, to intercept the robber if possible.

The Journal says Mr. Samuel Hastings of Sidney, was 93 years old last October, and though his sight and hearing are somewhat impaired, his general health is good, and he steps as quickly as a boy. He married in his younger days a sister of the late Hon. Benj. Brown of Vassalboro', but after about one year of married life the wife died, leaving no offspring, and the old gentleman is kindly cared for by his nephew, Col. Hastings. Mr. Hastings is on the same farm on which he was born. The farm was settled by his grandfather at a very early day, and was always kept in the family. The Hastings family built the first saw mill in this section, and pine lumber was so plenty that it would hardly pay for manufacturing, and there was no inducement to steal it. He took the Journal and read it till his eyesight failed, and always voted the Republican ticket.

The Democrat says that Mrs. McAllister, of Greenwood, attempted suicide the 27th ult. Taking a small revolver which was kept in the house, she loaded it and shot herself, the ball taking effect in the forehead. But probably owing to the manner it was held, the ball did not penetrate the skull, but glanced upward and passed out at the top of the head. A deranged state of mind, caused by failing health, is said to be the cause of the rash act.

The Democrat says that Mr. F. M. Blossom of Roxbury, lost a span of horses recently under singular circumstances. He went to Bryant's Pond Feb. 26; both horses appeared to be well when he reached home. A few hours later one refused to eat, and died after about twenty-four hours illness. Six days later, the other showed similar symptoms. He died after about sixteen hours. The lungs of both were affected—some say badly.

The Democrat says that Mr. A. Jenkins of Byron, shot himself a few days since while out hunting. He was loading his revolver while running; one of the charges accidentally exploded, the ball entering the palm of his hand and coming out at the back of the wrist.

The Democrat says that two cooper shops and several thousand staves at East Hiram, belonging to Messrs. A. & P. B. Young, were burned recently, probably by fire falling through the floor. They have a large quantity of birch, poplar, oak and hemlock at their mills.

The Press says that the Fryeburg Steam Mill company start their mill this week for the season. They have oak and poplar butts enough on hand to keep them running some seven months, and old staves enough to keep shoemakers for two months to finish them.

A reward of $20 is offered for the conviction of the person who recently set fire in one of the rooms of the North street primary school, and committed other depredations at Bath.

The Press says that Sunday Jerry Gunnison of Kittery, made two attempts at suicide. He first cut a gash in his arm severing an artery, and that not ending his existence he cut his throat. His recovery is doubtful.

The house of John Goodwin at Eliot was partially destroyed by fire Monday night. Loss about $300; insured.

FRIDAY APRIL 5, 1878.

AN EXAMPLE OF WHAT THE SOUTH WANTS.

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

The solid and hungry South has been modest, since the recess. Not including private claims, or bills for the relief of individuals, the measures introduced since the recess, would involve the expenditure of only about $49,000,000 at the South. Before the recess, such bills were introduced involving the expenditure of about $150,000,000, so that the little bill of the Solid South appears at present to reach $192,000,000. It is not to be supposed that the bills offered cover a large proportion of the demands which will be made when a Southern Democracy gains control in both branches of Congress and in the White House—if ever. Shrewd managers do not care to expose their measures to defeat by thrusting them upon a body naturally adverse, and during the session just preceding Congressional elections. The more dangerous measures, it is safe to say, will wait a better opportunity. By far the greater number will be held back until a favoring Senate and President may give hope of success. Only some fraction of the appropriations demanded, we may be sure are included in the $192,000,000 thus far made visible to the naked eye. If ever the South camps in the White House and the Senate, as it is now encamped in the House, we shall know more about its wants.

No thoughtful citizen will forget that claims far exceeding in magnitude those which can be called public are now hungrily awaiting the transfer of the government to favoring hands. During the last Presidential campaign some information as to these claims was gathered. Those which had then been pushed so far as to have a place in the official records, were even then so numerous and so large as to involve an expenditure exceeding in amount the entire National debt. So startled was the country by these disclosures, and so plain was it that utter bankruptcy would follow any opening of the door to private claims for losses during the war, that Mr. Tilden himself deemed it necessary to break through the reticence usual in a Presidential candidate, and threw aside for once his remarkable caution, in order to assure the North that he did not mean to favor these schemes. The declaration did him little good. It was seen that the South was very much in earnest, and that no Democratic President could be trusted to resist to the end the demands of the ruling element in that party on such an issue. Moreover, his letter was an acknowledgement that, with any President who could not resist, there would be real danger that the country might be swamped by the readiness of a Democratic Congress to yield to Southern demands.

Little has been said of these measures at this session. They are of such character that they would certainly be defeated by a Republican Senate, or a Republican President, unless the division of parties should be greatly changed. But it would be folly to suppose that these claims are forgotten. Men who lost all their property during the war, or an important part of their property, do not forget that a Democratic victory may give them more than they could expect to accumulate in a life-time of labor. It is easy for them to keep alive the hopes of neighbors whose losses were smaller, or in part or wholly imaginary, and it has come to pass that a very large proportion of the citizens of the South, including nearly all the men of local influence, consider that they have a perfectly valid claim against the United States. Under a Republican Administration they expect not a cent. Under a Democratic Administration, these claimants will make it too hot for any Democratic member of Congress who refuses to support such a bill as that of Mr. H. G. Riddle, for example. Mr. Riddle, of the Fourth District of Tennessee, early in 1876, offered a bill providing:

> That the Secretary of War be and he is hereby authorized to allow reasonable compensation to all citizens of the United States for the use or occupation of their property by the United States Army, or any part thereof, during the late civil war, in the same manner and under the same regulations as compensation is now allowed for Quartermasters' stores used by said army. Provided, however, that the affidavit of the claimant, supported by the competent testimony of any reputable citizen, shall be sufficient proof to establish the fact of the use and occupation of such property by said Army.

It was said that this bill would enable somebody to get pay for every bushel of potatoes eaten, or said to have been eaten, by Sherman's army in its march to the sea, and for every tree cut, fence-rail burned, or acre of ground disturbed by Grant's army in Virginia. The amount of claims payable under this bill alone, by a favoring Secretary of War, would probably approach the amount of the present National debt. But Mr. H. G. Riddle made his campaign openly on this demand, and was elected again by 8,412 majority, his opponent getting only 3 545 votes. This measure, though Mr. Riddle is in Congress now, is not vigorously pushed at present. Does not every one know why? To press it now would only subject it to defeat, and would lessen the chances of Northern Democrats for re-election. No Secretary of War that President Hayes is likely to appoint* would serve Mr. Riddle's purpose. But the 12,000 people who voted for him expect that he will make good his pledges to press his demand, whenever a favoring Secretary of War can be obtained.

This is but a sample of a class of measures which are now carefully kept under hatches. Far more dangerous than any that are offered and pushed at present, these will come to the front also whenever there is a chance of their success. The Solid South only asks for about $200,000,000 now; let the Democratic party have control of the Government, and its Riddles will soon teach the country what they want.

*We regret that we are unable to entirely share the Tribune's confidence that the disposition of President Hayes would furnish the security it suggests against the appointment of a rebel sympathizing Secretary of War. It is well known that he at one time seriously contemplated tendering that office to the rebel General Joe Johnston, as a measure of "conciliation," and we should not want to assure against his calling another ex-Confederate at any time to join Col. Key in the Cabinet, if those influential statesmen, General Gordon, General M. C. Butler, Colonel Lamar and Ben. Hill should unite in demanding such further "pacification."—Ed. Whig.

The hearty commendation of the spirit and substance of our remarks yesterday upon city affairs, which has been expressed by many of our citizens, affords assurance that the people are becoming tired of demagogism and want to see common-sense applied to the management of public interests.

TOADYISM EFFECTIVELY REBUKED.

[From the Boston Traveller.]

In his lecture delivered in Montreal on Friday last, Rev. Joseph Cook went out of his way to pander to the anti-American prejudices of his audience in the following strain of nauseating toadyism:

> Now we never heard of such a thing as buying a member of Parliament. England's goal was fair play. The American believes in fair play, but principally—in the top man. [Laughter and applause.] Some time ago London used to rise in the morning with the prayer that God would bless their work and help them to do it well. America rises and prays to the great Belteshazzar the ruler of mammon and pleasure: "O thou mighty, most adored one, bless our shoddy manufactures—[laughter]—and help us this day to do our work, with slur-iness, swiftness, with profit, and with mendacity—for thy de-e-vil's sa-ake—a a-men." [Great laughter and applause.]"

The above is taken from the report of the Montreal Witness, an Evangelical daily paper favorable to Mr. Cook. Has not that gentleman sufficient confidence in the legitimate exercise of his admittedly great rhetorical powers that he must resort to such contemptible depreciation of his country abroad in order to gain a few more rounds of applause by tickling the ears of the Provincials? When a theological Bohemian (to reverse one of Mr. Cook's favorite epithets) demeans himself in this manner, and regardless of truth or consistency, voices whatever opinion is likely to be re-echoed by his auditors, he surely displays in a marked degree the belief in the "top man," which Mr. Cook affected to depreciate. Moreover, he paid his Montreal audience a very poor compliment in proceeding upon the supposition that they were ignorant of the writings of Thomas Carlyle, however correct such an assumption might be. The prayer to "Belteshazzar" (Beelzebub?) is from the pen of the Sage of Chelsea, and had reference to English or modern tendencies generally. If Mr. Cook must slur his own country when abroad, for the temporary gratification of bringing down the house, he might at least do it in his own vigorous, if not always intelligible, language, and not wrench the condemnation of English ways by an Englishman so as to apply to America.

A LOUD CALL FOR MORE CONCILIATION.

[From the Atlanta (Georgia) Constitution.]

We have had occasions—and we have embraced them with a real satisfaction—to speak well of President Hayes, and to extol his acts as eminently patriotic and right. But while he has done some things that are worthy of commendation, he has left undone other things, some of which were demanded by justice to the country, and some by justice to himself. We have reference to his failure, in his very first communication to Congress, to recommend and insist on universal amnesty for all alleged political offenders. What possible excuse can there be, at this late day, for depriving such men as Jefferson Davis Joseph E. Johnston, Robert Toombs, and others whom we might name, of the full enjoyment of all the rights of an American freeman? What becomes of our boasted character as a republic under such a policy? Why, the despots of Europe might justly laugh us to scorn, and point to the American flag as a flaunting lie and cheat.

The City Government has decided that the interests of our public schools demand that the School Committe shall consist of a majority of Democrats. Hitherto the attitude of that party with reference to our common school system has not been regarded as an inducement to put our schools under Democratic control but the present City Government has evidently taken a different view. As there have been so many threats of wholesale onslaughts upon our educational institutions, perhaps it was thought that Democrats would be more ready and efficient in a destructive crusade.

That is a curious letter the members of the Kemper County Grand Jury have sent to the Governor of Mississippi. They say they were compelled by the obligations of their oaths to find indictments for several persons engaged in the Chisholm massacre, but they hope the Governor will pardon all of them, even before the indictments are tried, because such pardon will "accomplish more for the promotion of peace and good order in our country than a relentless prosecution of these cases." This is a good specimen of the Kemper idea of justice. The evidence against the murderers was so strong that the jury was forced against its will to find the indictments, and yet the same jury turns about, before the indictments can be tried, and asks to have the indicted persons pardoned as an incentive to "peace and good order!" If the Governor coincides in this view, Kemper County will be more than ever the best place in the country to move away from.

A letter printed in the New Orleans Democrat incidentally says: "All Union officers that came to Kentucky from elsewhere were invaders. Union officers from that State were traitors." The writer must be expecting an office under the present Administration.—N. Y. Times.

Washington specials state that Mr. Frye made a speech in the doorkeeper debate on Wednesday which attracted much attention. He devoted himself especially to the fictitious soldiers roll, and showed that these Democratic soldiers much resembled Falstaff's army.

Jeff Davis is going to deliver the address at Macon, Ga., on Memorial Day, and Bob Toombs at Columbus, Ga.

The Boston Journal, just after the New Hampshire election, spitefully and untruthfully proclaimed that the editor of the Concord Monitor had been defeated for the Legislature on account of his opposition to the Hayes surrender policy. The following statement in the Dover Enquirer does not indicate that the Monitor has become very unpopular:

> The political editor of the Concord Monitor is re-elected to the Legislature; the local editor is appointed an honorary Commissioner to the Paris Exposition, and the pressman is chosen Mayor of the city.

The Indianapolis Journal remarks that: "A significant feature of Banning's Army Bill is that it repeals the section of the Revised Statutes which prohibits the appointment of ex-Confederates to the army."

JEFF. DAVIS IN PETTICOATS. Gen. B. D. Pritchard, of Allegan, who commanded the detachment of the Fourth Michigan Cavalry which captured Jeff Davis, has just published an elaborate review of the whole transaction, answering sundry statements recently made by a Southern writer on this subject, and closing as follows: "It has never been denied that he was dressed in his ordinary clothing at the time of his capture, but it is claimed that over his ordinary suit was worn articles of female attire adopted by him as a disguise, with the purpose of eluding his pursuers by reason of the immunity from personal arrest and detention usually accorded to women under whatever circumstances they may be found, and there can be no more doubt that Mr. Davis was so disguised than there can be that he was captured at all, and the story of his disguise is no fabrication or make-up, as has been claimed days after the capture, but was related to me within 10 minutes after its occurrence by men whose veracity cannot be questioned."

Says the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser: Our Washington correspondent narrates how, to the question, "Why don't you send Mr. Tilden?" a Democratic Senator replied, "We don't want him. We prefer Hayes as the most effective destroyer of the Republican party." Could infamy be greater than that? The man whom they regard in their hearts as an unblushing fraud—who has prostrated himself abjectly before them, striving by flattery and patronage to win them over—is thus contemptuously met!

PERISTALTIC LOZENGES.

The effects of

When long continued are pains in the head, dizziness, nausea or sickness at the stomach, general uneasiness in the abdominal region, congestion of the liver, and hence an impeded circulation of the blood, colic, and especially the

PILES.

The grand proximate cause of Dyspepsia is debility of the stomach. The torpidity of the liver is apparent from the small quantity of bile discharged from that organ, and also by a dull pain on the right side. Under whichever form

DYSPEPSIA

Appears there is always languor or debility, exertion fatigues, the pulse is weak, the sleep disturbed, the extremities cold, the tongue for the most part, furred or covered with a creamy mucous in the morning. No person with a constipated or irregular state of the bowels can have sound health.

It is evident, that some gentle laxative, slightly stimulant to the mucous membrane of the intestines, joined with a tonic, that increases the secretions of the liver and gradually strengthening the stomach, must be a reasonable combination, and reach the case. That this combination will do; for proof of which we are happy to be able to refer those heretofore disappointed, to the most reliable physicians, who have long used this remedy in their practice; and also to every apothecary by whom the Peristaltic Lozenges are sold.

These Lozenges will repair the mischief caused by the excessive use of those "Patent Pills," with which the country has for years been flooded.

They are so agreeable to the taste, and convenient in form, that children eat them readily after rejecting the usual nauseous remedies. In those symptoms supposed to indicate the presence of Worms, they are a proper remedy.

Price 30 and 60 cents. For sale by druggists, or by mail on receipt of price and P. O. stamp or money.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 4.

Mr. Morrill offered a resolution providing for a select committee of seven to consider the propriety of taking the tenth census. Agreed to.

At the expiration of the morning hour the Senate resumed consideration of the Pacific Railroad Funding bill and Mr. Matthews spoke in reply to the arguments against the Railroad Committee's bill.

Mr Anthony from the Committee on Printing reported resolutions to print 25,000 copies of the report of the Commissioner of Agriculture on forestry. Agreed to.

The bill for the relief of James Fishback late Collector of Revenue in Illinois, was laid over to obtain further information, as Mr Davis read a letter which stated that Fishback was a defaulter and Mr. Oglesby responded by stating that he was an upright and honest man.

The bill to authorize the Secretary of War to prescribe rules, and regulations in preparation for the submission and approval of contracts under the War Department, was passed.

Mr Chaffee followed in advocacy of the substitute for the pending bill submitted by him yesterday a part of which proposes to compel main roads to divided pro rata with branches.

Mr Thurman contended that the bill proposed by Mr. Chaffee and the Railroad Commissioners bill provided that the money due from roads for 5 per cent. of their net earnings and half transportation should form a part of the sinking fund, and that the Government was required to pay interest on the money that was its own.

Mr Conkling made issue with this proposition and in the course of his remarks said he would not have voted for it if the party had not been a corporation; he would not do a thing to-day with these corporations that he would not do to-morrow with the greatest favorite of the Senate: he would never give a vote prompted or incited by the fact that the corporations had made, and not lost, money. He favored a proposition that would promote the interests of the corporations it at the same time the interests of the Government were protected.

Mr Chaffee then concluded his remarks upon the funding portion of his bill.

Mr. Bayard was recognized as entitled to the floor but gave way to Mr. Whyte who introduced a bill granting a site to the city of Baltimore for a dry dock. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr Thurman in reply to questions by Messrs. Whyte and Blaine, argued that the right to alter and amend reserved in the acts was valid and operative at this time; that the decision of the Supreme Court applied to the law as it stood at the time the decision was rendered and had no bearing upon a law that might thereafter be enacted.

Mr. Blaine asked at what point the power to amend stopped in the opinion of the Senator.

Mr. Thurman said he would not stand here to answer hypothetical questions. He would put a question to the Senator from Maine, and he could take until to-morrow to answer. Did he deny the right of Congress to require these corporations to provide a sinking fund to meet their obligations to the Government? The Supreme Court had at this session, and while they had been talking about it, decided that this reserved right to amend was valid in a case where the Legislature of his own State had under this reserved right reduced the rates on a railroad one-third.

Mr. Hill said the distinction he insisted upon was the contract for which there was no consideration and this principle he claimed had been settled in the Supreme Court in the case of Nutter vs. the State of New York. In reply to a question by Mr. Kernan he said there was no legislative power to compel a railroad to pay its debts. The railroad was not incorporated to pay its debts but to carry freights and passengers. The courts were the proper authorities to compel it to pay its debts. At 6 o'clock the Senate adjourned until to-morrow.

House.

Mr. Butler introduced a bill to supply convenient currency with which the minor business transactions of the people may be done. Referred.

It provides for issuing of 25 and 50 cents in fractional currency and that any person paying into the Treasury legal tender notes or coin shall receive such amount of fractional currency as he may desire and directs the Secretary of the Treasury to pay out of one-sixth of all the payments made into the Treasury in redemption of national bank notes, in United States legal tender notes of the denomination of $1, $2, $3 and $5.

The House resumed the Polk case and was addressed by Mr. Cook in favor of retaining the Doorkeeper.

At the conclusion of Mr. Cook's speech Mr. Harrison demanded the previous question but the demand was not seconded, Mr. Eden offered a substitute for the resolution of the majority censuring Polk for employing persons in excess of number authorized by law, directing him to revise the soldier's roll and remove therefrom all persons not disabled soldiers and recommitting to the Committee on Civil Service reform its resolutions with instructions to ascertain what changes may be necessary for a more economical administration of the business of the doorkeeper's department.

After the speeches by Messrs Baker of Ind. and Hale of Me., in favor of the majority resolution the main question having been ordered, a vote was taken on the resolution offered by Mr. Eden as a substitute for the report of the committee and it was rejected, yeas 95, nays 135.

The question recurred on the resolutions reported by the committee which are as follows.

Resolved, That the position of doorkeeper of the House of Representatives be and hereby is declared vacant and it is further resolved that until the appointment of a new doorkeeper the duties of the office are hereby devolved on the Sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. Conger of Mich. demanded a division of the question. A vote was therefore taken on the first resolution and it was adopted—yeas 130, nays 80.

The next vote was on the second resolution devolving temporarily the duties of the Doorkeeper on the Sergeant-at-Arms. It was adopted—yeas 122, nays 113.

Immediately on the announcement of the vote Mr. Hale rose to move that the House proceed to the election of a doorkeeper but another motion by Mr. Eden was agreed to, yeas 121, nays 112, and the House adjourned.

Pending the announcement the Speaker appointed Messrs. Durham, Blount and Baker, of Ind., the conference committee on part of the House on the bill making an appropriation for the employment of temporary clerks.

An announcement was made of a Democratic caucus to-morrow evening.

A BAD AFFAIR.

Failure of Holt & Bugbee

Cause, Junior Partner's Forgeries

The Failure of Holt and Bugbee.

BOSTON, March 4. The firm of Holt & Bugbee, lumber dealers, suspended yesterday, with liabilities of $150,000 to $175,000; due mostly to Boston creditors. The failure was caused by the fraudulent action of Mr. Bugbee's brother, the junior partner, who has for several years acted as buying agent for the firm at Indianapolis, where he holds the office of Alderman and is otherwise a prominent citizen. He has been largely engaged in speculation in the West and to cover his losses has drawn against the firm, using as collateral notes of parties in the West, whose signatures are now admitted to be forgeries. Bugbee confessed to using $192,000 of these notes, which are now largely in the hands of Boston banks; but are made payable in Indianapolis, so that no proceedings on them can be taken in the Massachusetts courts. It is believed that apart from the forgeries the firm is solvent and will be able to resume business.

The Junior Partner's Forgeries.

The amount of forged paper issued by J. W. Bugbee of Indianapolis, the Western agent of Holt & Bugbee of this city is said to amount to one hundred and fifty thousand dollars and in addition to this Bugbee has drawn largely on the firm up to as late a date as March 30th.

Further Details—More and Worse—The Firm Ruined.

Boston banks hold notes given on account of Holt & Bugbee to the amount of $229,063.54; of this aggregate it is known that $134,758.92 is represented by notes forged by J. W. Bugbee of Indianapolis. Bugbee's transactions were first made known to his principals by a Louisville concern, who had received notice of a forged note falling due. As soon as Bugbee found he was discovered he made a full confession to A. D. Lyon of Indianapolis who at once came here to expose the fraud. Bugbee's method which extends over a period of two years, was to make all the notes payable in Indianapolis when he took care to have them paid from time to time, the proceeds of his drafts on the concern enabling him to meet them. It is now stated that Holt & Bugbee are completely ruined by the forgeries and will go into bankruptcy.

Contested Election Cases.

WASHINGTON, April 4. The House Committee on elections to-day dismissed the Oregon contested election case of McDowell against Williams. The sub-committee to whom was referred the Missouri contested case of Rich against Chalmers, reported unanimously that the evidence submitted was insufficient to give the contestant the seat. The full committee adopted the report of the sub-committee and decided that it was now too late to take additional evidence in the case, and therefore it was finally disposed of. Monday the 8th inst., was fixed for hearing the argument in the South Carolina contested case O'Connor against Cain. The object of the contestant in this case is to secure a new election, claiming that the previous election was fraudulent. Messrs. Harris, Turney and Thornburg, were appointed a sub-committee to consider the Alabama contested case of Harrison against Shelley.

Resumption of Specie Payment.

The conference between Secretary Sherman and the House Committee in regard to preparations for resumption and the ability of the Treasury to maintain resumption was resumed this morning and lasted three hours. The Secretary stoutly resisted all efforts to weaken his faith in the power of the Treasury to carry out the resumption law and asserted his convictions both of of his ability to do so and of the good policy of the act.

The Gaboon Slave Trade.

WASHINGTON, April 3. A commercial agent at Gaboon reports that knowledge of a place on Livingstone river, derived from Stanley's discoveries is already bearing practical fruits. Missionaries followed the river so far as the first series of rapids and are about to establish a missionary station at that point. There are reports that in a modified form the slave traffic exists between that region and the Portuguese islands of St. Thomas and Princess, through former agents of the slave trade between Gaboon and St. Paul de Loanda. A British gunboat recently captured a brig with over one hundred men, women and children on board in a miserable condition, who had been captured and shipped near St. Paul as free laborers. The spirit of the slave trade still exists and if not carefully watched it will find means to revive and increase.

Candidates for Doorkeeper of the House.

Messrs. Goodale, of Illinois, Patterson of New Jersey, former Doorkeeper, McCoy, of Maryland, Field of Virginia, Philip Pendleton, of W. Virginia, and Walter H. French, of Massachusetts are mentioned in connection with the Doorkeepership of the House, the nomination for which will be made to-morrow afternoon by the Democrats in caucus. The last named was formerly Tally Clerk of the present House and his friends present his name on the ground that the States east of the Allegheny Mountains have no officer in the House, though they cast nearly a million of votes for the Democratic ticket in the last President at election and gave 50 Electoral votes to Tilden and Hendricks.

FOREIGN NEWS.

All Sorts of Reports.

THE SITUATION UNCHANGED

Views of the Press and Diplomats.

Opinions in Vienna.

LONDON, April 4. In relation to Salisbury's letter at Vienna, it is said there is every disposition to facilitate a transformation of the treaty in an European sense, and to show every consideration for Russia, but the Government at St. Petersburg must know that to satisfy Austria the transformation must be real, not apparent. From Berlin are two voices: The Russian party reiterated that a possibility of a bargain between Russia and Austria is still open and that Ignatieff is not dissatisfied with the result of his mission to Vienna, though it is admitted from St. Petersburg that this satisfaction is not shared by his colleagues.

VIENNA, April 4. The New Free Press says a renewal of bloodshed will be Russia's fault. England is championing international rights. The Framdenblatt says if Russia mitigates the treaty stipulation in consideration of a Turkish alliance she will thereby deprive the realy of any banding force.

The Bucharest Cabinet Crisis.

The unintelligible rumors of the Cabinet crisis in Bucharest are explained by letters from that city April 1st telegraphed here from Vienna. It seems that while the people and the legislature are unanimously opposed to Russia there is a strong suspicion that Prince Charles and the Cabinet are prepared to consent to the cession of Bessarabia and had really agreed with Gen. Ignatieff in this sense but found the feeling in opposition is so strong that they feared a revolution if they proceeded with the scheme.

The Pro-Russian party continues the letter are of course Anti-Austrian and circumstances must determine whether the Cabinet will carry out the will of the nation or throw themselves into the arms of Russia. This explanation is partially confirmed by the fact that Bucharest telegrams are very undecided in their tone. One published in London this morning says the government is seeking to allay unnecessary and impolitic excitement over the Bessarabian question.

Gladstone's Inquiry.

In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. Gladstone asked first if it was the intention of the Government in the recent communication regarding the Congress to reserve to itself liberty to withdraw from the Congress upon the proposal to discuss any matter of discussion of which it did not think advisable; and secondly, why England refused a preliminary conference.

Sir Stafford Northcote Replied.

Firstly, that all England wanted at the Congress was a discussion of every article of the treaty and secondly, that Lord Derby's despatch give the reason for declining the preliminary conference.

A Discussion Coming.

Mr. Gladstone thereupon gave notice that he would raise a discussion to-morrow, because of Sir Stafford Northcote's unsatisfactory reply.

The Probable Action of the Peace Party.

LONDON, April 4. Despite the speeches of Lords Granville and Hartington to the deputation of National Liberal Federation yesterday it is not believed the opposition will take any strong line against the Government's policy. Gladstone and his followers may endeavor to force the party leaders into active antagonism and the independent members may introduce resolutions disapproving the calling out of the reserves, but there will be a strong counter influence which the party leaders are not likely to disregard.

A Counter Move.

A movement has already received the adhesion of sixty or seventy liberal members having for its object to prevent the party from trammelling the Government's foreign policy.

The Criticism of the Times.

The "Times" editorial strongly condemns the objects of the deputation and sharply criticises the speeches of Lords Granville and Hartington. It says the deputation themselves are bound to admit they did not in all cases represent the majorities in the constituencies and there are no means of knowing how far their constituencies agree with the sentiments expressed. If the Government's views are fallacious it is the duty of the opposition to endeavor to restrain the Government and enlighten the country. If no such attempt is made or if it fails it can only be concluded that the deliberate judgment of the country is in favor of the general policy of the Government.

Granville is hardly fair therefore in assigning to the government undivided responsibility in such a crisis. It cannot be too often reiterated that we on Russia to enter into the Congress without reserve and listen before she takes any final decision to what the other Powers may have to say respecting the preliminary treaty she has made with Turkey. A more moderate request could hardly be made. To designate it as was done yesterday by the deputation as a warlike policy is unjust and misleading.

The Manchester Guardian's View.

The Manchester Guardian (Liberal) strongly condemns the sort of pressure this deputation intended to put on the Liberal leaders as well as their assumption that the Government's policy is warlike. The Ministers it says are not to be held responsible if peace is threatened, or broken, because they oppose aims which though unavowed and illegitimate are clearly within the scope of the Russian policy.

Reported Views of Bismarck.

LONDON, April 4. Additional Eastern correspondence is published; Lord Russell, British Ambassador at Berlin, telegraphs March 13th that Bismarck has informed him that Germany would not participate in a conference without England, and he (Bismarck) cannot understand how a Congress for a revision of European rights could be held when England, one of the chief contractors, was absent.

Various Statements.

A special to the Vienna Politische Correspondenz from Constantinople says the conversion of the Sultan to pro-Russian ideas is imminent.

The Roumanian Minister of Foreign Affairs states that Gortschakoff has declared to him that if Roumania does not give in she will take Bessarabia by force and armed resistance would be fatal for Roumania.

LONDON, April 5. The Daily Telegraph's Vienna advices from Cettinge state that Russia has requested the Montenegrins to prepare for a revival of hostilities. Prince Nikita is taking measures accordingly. A rupture between the Russians and Roumanians is exceedingly probable. The latter in spite of their numerical inferiority are determined to resist any attack, believing the excitement in Hungary would compel Austria to interfere.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

The Old Complaint.

FRANCE.

Preparing to Victimize Visitors to the Exposition.

NEW YORK, April 14. A Paris letter states that the prospect for foreigners during the exposition is that of extortionate prices for the most miserable accommodations. Speculators have secured about a half the sleeping rooms in the city. The prices of meats and vegetables have reached nearly prohibitory figures and families of small means already find it difficult to live. These prices will be much higher at all the restaurants when the exhibition opens.

A HANDSOME RESIDENCE. Yesterday our reporter visited the new and handsome residence of Dan'l P. Wingate Esq. on State street, which was built last fall. The house is finely located and from the windows in the front rooms, one gets a fine view nearly the whole length of the street. At the front entrance are large black walnut doors, with a small vestibule inside, and doors which open into a large hall, where there is a handsome stairway leading to the second floor. On either side of the hall, doors open into the sitting room and parlor both of which are exceedingly pretty rooms. Back of the sitting room is the dining room the floor of which is of two kinds of wood. The kitchen is directly across the hall from the dining room, and is very conveniently arranged, with a pantry on one side with a slide which leads into a closet in the dining room so that anything can be passed from one room to the other. Then there is a wash room with stationary tubs with both hot and cold water either of which can be obtained by merely turning a faucet. There is also a fine cellar under the whole house with cemented floor, and the furnace partitioned off from the vegetable appartments. On the second floor are seven fine sleeping appartments and a bath room supplied with all modern conveniences. Each room is heated by a register in direct connection with the furnace, and all are bright and cheerful. The house is finished throughout in the most workmanlike manner, and is a model for beauty and convenience. Mr. Wingate expects to move in to the house about the first of next month.

12.	Wizard of the Wave	Six Misses.
13.	Finale	Class.

The class formed a very pretty sight as they went through the different figures of the grand march all being very prettily dressed and each with a bag in their hand, and all uniting in singing "Marching through Georgia." The "Butterfly dance" was one of the prettiest features of the entertainment, and the dancing of little Miss Miller, who occupied a position in the centre of the group called forth continued applause from the audience who demanded a repetition of the dance. The "Fire dance" by Master Wood, also created great applause as the little fellow took his position on the floor dressed in a complete fireman's suit. The "Highland Fling" by little Miss McLaughlin was also one of the principal features, and the different movements of the dance were executed in a manner which would have done credit to any one, and the audience showed their appreciation of her efforts by a hearty encore. At the close of the exhibition the class was served with refreshments, after which the audience went on to the floor and danced the remainder of the evening. There will be a matinee by the class next Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, and those who were unable to attend the exhibition last evening will undoubtedly avail themselves of this opportunity.

THE DIAMOND.

An Interesting Lecture by Mayor Hamlin.

Last evening a large audience, considering the numerous other attractions and the unfavorable weather, assembled at the Art Rooms to hear Mayor Hamlin's lecture on the "Diamond." He commenced with a minute description of the diamond, and gave some very interesting facts as to how and where it was found and the manner in which it is cut so as to bring out its greatest brilliancy and then spoke of the value of the different diamond fields; and stated that Russia inherited and purchased some of the most valuable diamonds in the world, although France possessed the most famous single diamond which is valued at $6,000,000. The lecturer then spoke of the fifteen most famous diamonds in the world, of which he had fac similes. He gave the history of each of these famous gems, which was exceedingly interesting. Many of them have been lost and stolen at different times and again recovered. At the close of the lecture the audience were invited to examine the imitations which were arranged in the Cabinet room on a table some eight feet long, with some twenty wax candles elevated at one side of the table and reflectors so arranged that the light was thrown directly on to the imitations. The following is a list of the fac similes: Regent, 136¾ carats, the property of France, and valued at $6,000,000; Star of the South, 125 carats; Nassak, 78⅝ carats, the property of the Earl of Westminster, London; Florentine, 139½ carats, the property of Austria; Sancey, 53½ carats, Jeegeeboy, Bombay; Eugenie, 51 carats, the property of the Empress Eugenie; Koh-i-noor, 186 carats, before recut, the property of England; Orloff, 194¾ carats, Russia; Pasha, 40 carats, Egypt; Great Mogul, 279 carats; Hope, 44 carats, Mr. Hope of London; Shah, 86 carats, Russia; Koh-i-noor, 106 carats, England; Piggot, 82½ carats; Polar Star, 40 carats, Princess Youpousoff. The imitations elicited the admiration of all. The lecturer stated that the famous diamonds Regent and Koh-i-noor would be on exhibition at the Paris Exposition.

VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System.

Its Medicinal properties are Alterative, Tonic, Solvent, and Diuretic.

Vegetine is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots, and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system every taint of SCROFULA, SCROFULOUS HUMOR, TUMORS, CANCER, CANCEROUS HUMOR, ERYSIPELAS, SALT RHEUM, SYPHILITIC DISEASES, CANKER, FAINTNESS AT THE STOMACH, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. SCIATICA, INFLAMMATORY AND CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, GOUT, and SPINAL COMPLAINTS, can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For ULCERS and ERUPTIVE DISEASES of the SKIN, PUSTULES, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, BOILS, TETTER, SCALDHEAD and RINGWORM, Vegetine has never failed to effect a permanent cure.

For PAINS IN THE BACK, KIDNEY COMPLAINTS, DROPSY, FEMALE WEAKNESS, LEUCORRHŒA, arising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and GENERAL DEBILITY, Vegetine acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration, and regulates the bowels.

For CATARRH, DYSPEPSIA, HABITUAL COSTIVENESS, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, HEADACHE, PILES, NERVOUSNESS, and GENERAL PROSTRATION OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the Vegetine. It purifies the blood, cleanses all of the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.

The remarkable cures effected by Vegetine have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact, VEGETINE is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and is the only reliable BLOOD PURIFIER yet placed before the public.

MR. H. R. STEVENS.

Dear Sir,—Having during the past five years sold your Vegetine, which has been praised by my customers highly for the various diseases requiring a blood purifier, and I have heard very favorable reports of its use, I cordially indorse it as a good remedy, and believe it to be what you claim it is, viz., "The Great Blood Purifier" of the day.

Respectfully yours,
J. W. ABEL, M. D., Druggist.

PHYSICIANS SAY IT.—VEGETINE gives an equal circulation of the blood. All physicians will agree that there is scarcely a disease but that could most instantly be disposed of if pure blood could be circulated generously through the parts affected. Now, this is the way in which Vegetine performs its wonderful cures. Vegetine is exclusively a vegetable compound, made from roots, herbs, and barks.

For whatever is best and most readable in the literature of travel, discovery, and fiction, the average reader of to-day looks to Harper's Magazine, just as expectantly as did the reader of a quarter of a century ago; there is the same admirable variety of contents and the same freshness and suggestiveness in its editorial departments now as then.—Boston Journal.

This is to give notice that a petition has been presented to the court this 7th day of March, 1878, by Eben Webster, a creditor individually and as a member of the firm of P. D. & E. LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M. and from 7½ to 8 P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $21.50 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.
